GREEN

Armstrong Manufacturing Inc. is pleased to announce the official launch of its ProSeries Green[™] line of products, which is certified under EcoLogo[™], North America's leading certification and green marketing organization. Armstrong is proud of this accomplishment as it has allowed the company to refocus its energies toward being not only leaders of the Industrial and Institutional Cleaning Industry but environmental stewards helping to lower the environmental footprint of its own manufacturing operation and on down the line for authorized distributors and users of these ProSeries Green[™] products. Beyond these environmentally preferred products, Armstrong Manufacturing Inc. has taken its environmental stewardship to the next level through an extensive look at packaging, labelling processes and a comprehensive recycling waste and effluent reduction program. Armstrong has significantly reduced its carbon footprint for the greater good of the environment and for those who choose the benefits of using ProSeries Green[™] certified products.
